| Coordinator: | Dr Andrew Brown-May |
| Subject Overview: | The aim of this subject is to introduce students, through a practical placement in a public or private sector work environment (museum or gallery, heritage organisation, government department, municipal office, consultant historian, archive), to a range of conservation, ethical, communication and heritage concerns of public history. Students will be allocated both an academic and host organisation supervisor under whose direction they will tailor a relevant practical project consonant both with the host's requirements and the student's interests and experience. Projects might be undertaken in such areas as: researching and producing a history program for radio; researching and designing components of a history exhibition; researching and writing a historical report for an archaeological survey, municipal office or government department. |
| Assessment: | A practical placement task, the equivalent of 5,000 words, 30% (assessed at the end of the placement), and a 5000 word research essay 70% (due at the end of semester). |
| Prescribed Texts: | None |
| Breadth Options: | This subject is not available as a breadth subject. |
