Subject Overview:	In this subject students translate and discuss the interpretation of a selected work by a Greek historian (Herodotus, Thucydides or Xenophon). In tutorials, further work is undertaken on grammar and syntax which revises and consolidates the beginners course. Students will also undertake work in Ancient Greek literary and textual criticism. On completion of this subject students should have consolidated their skills in working with Ancient Greek texts and have discovered some of the many important contributions which reading original texts can make to understanding the ancient world.
Objectives:	# have read a number of Ancient Greek texts in the original and consolidated their knowledge of grammar and syntax and extended their vocabulary; # have encountered texts in a variety of styles and genres.
Assessment:	For 1st, 2nd and 3rd year students: Weekly translations tests, equivalent to 750 words 10% (held each week throughout the semester), weekly tutorial exercises, equivalent to 1250 words 25% (due each week throughout the semester), a 1-hour assessment test, equivalent to 1000 words 25% (held in the middle of the semester), a 1-hour examination, equivalent to 1000 words 30% (held during the examination period), and tutorial participation 10% (assessed throughout the semester). For 4th year students: Weekly translations tests, equivalent to 750 words 10% (held each week throughout the semester), weekly tutorial exercises, equivalent to 1250 words 20% (due each week throughout the semester), a 1-hour assessment test, equivalent to 1000 words 20% (held in the middle of the semester), a 1-hour examination, equivalent to 1000 words 20% (held during the examination period), a research assessment task of 1000 words 20% (due during the examination period), and tutorial participation 10% (assessed throughout the semester). Hurdle requirement: students must attend a minimum of 75% of tutorials and complete the assessment test and final exam in order to be eligible for final assessment.
