LAWS70344 International Law and Israel-Palestine

Credit Points:	12.50
Level:	7 (Graduate/Postgraduate)
Dates & Locations:	2012, Parkville This subject commences in the following study period/s: May, Parkville - Taught on campus.
Time Commitment:	Contact Hours: The total class time is between 24 and 26 hours. Total Time Commitment: Not available
Prerequisites:	Successful completion of Principles of International Law or an equivalent subject, or appropriate practical experience
Corequisites:	None.
Recommended Background Knowledge:	Applicants without legal qualifications should note that subjects are offered in the discipline of law at an advanced graduate level. While every effort will be made to meet the needs of students trained in other fields, concessions will not be made in the general level of instruction or assessment. Most subjects assume the knowledge usually acquired in a degree in law (LLB, JD or equivalent). Applicants should note that admission to some subjects in the Melbourne Law Masters will be dependent upon the individual applicant's educational background and professional experience.
Non Allowed Subjects:	None.
Core Participation Requirements:	The Melbourne Law Masters welcomes applications from students with disabilities. The inherent academic requirements for study in the Melbourne Law Masters are: The ability to attend a minimum of 75% of classes and actively engage in the analysis of complex materials and debate; The ability to read, analyse and comprehend complex written legal materials and complex interdisciplinary materials; The ability to clearly and independently communicate in writing a knowledge and application of legal principles and interdisciplinary materials and critically evaluate these; The ability to clearly and independently communicate orally a knowledge and application of legal principles and interdisciplinary materials and critically evaluate these; The ability to work independently and as a part of a group; The ability to present orally and in writing legal analysis to a professional standard. Students who feel their disability will inhibit them from meeting these inherent academic requirements are encouraged to contact the Disability Liaison Unit: www.services.unimelb.edu.au/disability/
Contact:	For more information, contact the Melbourne Law Masters office. Email law-masters@unimelb.edu.au) or phone +61 3 8344 6190. Alternatively, visit our website: www.law.unimelb.edu.au/masters)
Subject Overview:	In 1993, the Israelis and the Palestinians signed a Declaration of Principles initiating a peace process that promised to deliver a solution to the Israeli– Palestinian conflict within five years. Nearly 20 years later, the peace process is in tatters and the prospects of a peace agreement between the parties have never seemed bleaker. The failure to reach a political settlement on issues such as refugees, Jerusalem and settlements, which also have a strong international legal dimension, has given rise to a range of questions about the role of international law in the Israeli–Palestinian peace process and in peace processes more generally. This subject explores these questions critically and comparatively with reference to other conflicts, including East Timor, Western Sahara and Cyprus. In addition to her academic work, the lecturer has direct practical experience of the Israeli–Palestinian conflict and has lived in the Gaza Strip, working with a human rights organisation. The subject will be split into parts.

Page 1 of 2 01/02/2017 6:06 P.M.

Objectives:

Fees Information:

Links to further information:

History and the international legal framework Principal topics will include:

- # The legal history of the Israeli-Palestinian conflict
- # The right of self-determination: From East Timor to the Western Sahara and the West Bank
- Revisiting the history of the international law of self-determination: The untold story of population transfer
- # The law of statehood and recognition
- # The international law of occupation
- # The applicability of international human rights law to occupied territory
- The Israeli-Palestinian peace process: From Oslo to the road map to peace.

International law and the two-state solution

Principal topics will include:

- # Refugees
- # Settlements and settlers
- # Jerusalem
- # Case study: The Wall.

Alternative models

- # Transitional justice: Peace-building, reconciliation and dealing with the past
- # One-state solution; earned sovereignty; international trusteeship.

This subject will finish with an assessed, student-run Israeli-Palestinian peace conference.

A student who has successfully completed this subject should: # Understand and be able to use foundational concepts of public international law # Understand the Israeli-Palestinian conflict in historical and comparative perspective # Be familiar with the history and legal history of the Israeli-Palestinian conflict Understand the principal sources and rules of international law applicable to the Israeli-Palestinian conflict Understand the substance and significance of the debates over the current status of the Gaza Strip Be equipped to engage in legal analysis of the core issues in the Israeli-Palestinian conflict # Be better able to analyse critically and legally the two-state solution and its alternatives. Peace conference participation (10%) Take-home examination (90%) (12 pm 13 July to 5 pm16 Assessment: July) or 9,000 word research paper (90%) (30 August) on a topic approved by the subject coordinator Prescribed Texts: Core subject materials will be provided free of charge to all students. Some subjects require further texts to be purchased. Visit the Melbourne Law Masters website for more information about this subject. Breadth Options: This subject is not available as a breadth subject.

Subject EFTSL, Level, Discipline & Census Date, http://enrolment.unimelb.edu.au/fees

http://www.law.unimelb.edu.au/masters/courses-and-subjects/subject-details/sid/5221

Page 2 of 2 01/02/2017 6:06 P.M.