Subject Overview:	This subject is designed for students who commenced the Latin stream with some previous knowledge of Latin (VCE level or equivalent) and have completed Latin 4. Students examine Roman prose fiction through study of the Cena Trimalchionis from the Satyricon of Petronius. In addition, work is undertaken on grammar and syntax to revise, consolidate and extend students' knowledge of the language. Students who successfully complete this subject should be familiar with the structures and stylistic techniques of Roman prose fiction, be able to identify the central themes of the narrative, and understand the genre's parody of Roman social structures and mores. Students who complete this subject may progress to Latin 6.
Objectives:	Students who successfully complete this subject should: <ul style="list-style-type: none">· be familiar with the style of Roman prose fiction.· understand the cultural and production contexts of the text.

	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> · have consolidated their knowledge of grammar and syntax and extended their vocabulary. · be able to critically analyse the styles and themes of Latin prose fiction.
Assessment:	Weekly tutorial exercises, equivalent to 750 words 25% (due each week throughout the semester), textual analysis presentation, equivalent to 500 words 10% (due in Week 8 of semester), an assessment test equivalent to 1000 words 30% (due at the end of semester) and a 1750-word essay 35% (due in the examination period). Hurdle requirement: students must attend a minimum of 75% of tutorials in order to pass this subject. Assessment submitted late without an approved extension will be penalised at 10% per day; after five days, no late assessment will be marked. In-class tasks missed without approval will not be marked. All pieces of written work must be submitted to pass this subject.
