ACUR90001 Issues in Art Conservation

Prerequisites: Admission to the Master of Art Curatorship. Corequisites: None Recommended Background Knowledge: None For the purposes of considering request for Reasonable Adjustments under the disability Standards for Education (Cwth 2005), and Students Experiencing Academic Disadvantage Policy, academic requirements for this subject are articulated in the Subject Description, Subject Objectives, Generic Skills and Assessment Requirements of this entry. The University is dedicated to provide support to those with special requirements. Further details on the disability support scheme can be found at the Disability Liaison Unit website: http://www.services.unimelb.edu.au/disability/ Coordinator: Assoc Prof Alison Inglis asi@unimelb.edu.au (mailto:asi@unimelb.edu.au) Subject Overview: This subject examines the history and theory of the conservation of art objects and collections, with particular reference to Australia. Students will gain a theoretical grounding in issues relating to conservation and an understanding of professional networks and policy developments in art conservation, and authentication, conservation, ethical and theoretical issues raised by cleaning, restoration, and authentication, conservation issues in the display of works of art, and legal issues in conservation. # be able to demonstrate a knowledge of the history and theory of art conservation, with particular reference to Australia and Southeast Asia; # be able to demonstrate a knowledge of the ethical and theoretical issues raised by the cleaning, restoration, authentication and presentation of works of art; and evelopments in art conservation in Australias; # be able to demonstrate a knowledge of the ethical and theoretical issues raised by the cleaning, restoration, authentication and presentation of works of art; and # be able to demonstrate a knowledge of preventive conservation and the conservation in requirements for transporting, storing and displaying work of art.	Credit Points:	12.5
Time Commitment: Contact Hours: 24 Total Time Commitment: 170 Prerequisites: Admission to the Master of Art Curatorship. Corequisites: None Recommended Background Knowledge: Non Allowed Subjects: None For the purposes of considering request for Reasonable Adjustments under the disability Standards for Education (Cwth 2005), and Students Experiencing Academic Disadvantage Policy, academic requirements for this subject are articulated in the Subject Description, Subject Objectives, Generic Skills and Assessment Requirements. Further details on the disability support scheme can be found at the Disability Liaison Unit website: http://www.services.unimelb.edu.au/disability/ Coordinator: Assoc Prof Alison Inglis asi@unimelb.edu.au (malito:asi@unimelb.edu.au) Subject Overview: This subject examines the history and theory of the conservation of art objects and collections, with particular reference to Australia. Students will gain a theoretical grounding in issues relating to conservation and an understanding of professional networks and policy developments in art conservation. In Australia and internationally. Issues considered will include: the preventative care of art objects. The history of conservation issues in the display of works of art, and legal issues in conservation. Learning Outcomes: ## be able to demonstrate a knowledge of the history and theory of an entworks and policy developments in art conservation. In Australia: ## be able to demonstrate a knowledge of the history and theory of art conservation, with particular reference to Australia and Southeast Asia; ## be able to demonstrate a knowledge of the history and theory of art conservation, with particular reference to Australia and Southeast Asia; ## be able to demonstrate a knowledge of the professional networks and policy developments in art conservation in Australiasis: ## be able to demonstrate a knowledge of the professional networks and policy developments in a conservation in Australiasis: ## be able to demonstrate a knowledge	Level:	9 (Graduate/Postgraduate)
Prerequisites: Admission to the Master of Art Curatorship. Recommended Background Knowledge: None Standards for Education (Cwth 2005), and Students Experiencing Academic Disadvantage Policy, academic requirements for his subject are articulated in the Subject Description, Subject Objectives, Generic Skills and Assessment Requirements of this entry. The University is dedicated to provide support to those with special requirements. Further details, Turther details, www.services.unimelb.edu.au/disability/ Coordinator: Assoc Prof Alison Inglis asi@unimelb.edu.au (mailto:asi@unimelb.edu.au) Subject Overview: This subject examines the history and theory of the conservation of art objects and collections, with particular reference to Australia. Students will gain a theoretical grounding in issues relating to conservation and an understanding of professional networks and policy developments in art conservation in Australia and internationally, Issues considered will include: the preventative care of art objects, the history of conservation and and policy developments in art conservation, and authentication, conservation insues in the display of works of art, and legal issues in conservation. Learning Outcomes: # be able to demonstrate a knowledge of the history and theory of art conservation, with particular reference to Australia and Southeast Asia; # be able to demonstrate a knowledge of the history and theory of art conservation, with particular reference to Australia and Southeast Asia; # be able to demonstrate a knowledge of the history and theory of art conservation with particular reference to Australia and Southeast Asia; # be able to demonstrate a knowledge of the history and theory of art conservation with particular reference to Australia and Southeast Asia; # be able to demonstrate a knowledge of the history and theoretical issuer since by the cleaning, restoration, authentication in Australiash; # be able to demonstrate a knowledge of the	Dates & Locations:	This subject commences in the following study period/s:
Corequisites: None Recommended Background Knowledge: None None For the purposes of considering request for Reasonable Adjustments under the disability Standards for Education (Cwth 2005), and Students Experiencing Academic Disadvantage Policy, academic requirements for this subject are articulated in the Subject Describing Student Corporation, Student Describing and Assessment Requirements of this entry. The University is dedicated to provide support to those with special requirements. Further details on the disability support scheme can be found at the Disability Liaison Unit website: http://www.services.unimelb.edu.au/disability/ Coordinator: Assoc Prof Alison Inglis asi@unimelb.edu.au (mailto:asi@unimelb.edu.au) Subject Overview: This subject examines the history and theory of the conservation of art objects and collections, with particular reference to Australia. Students will gain a theoretical grounding in issues relating to conservation and an understanding of professional networks and policy developments in art conservation in Australia and internationally. Issues considered will include: the preventative care of art objects, the history of conservation, estual and theoretical issues raised by cleaning, restoration, and authentication, conservation, estual and theoretical issues raised by cleaning, restoration, and suthentication, conservation, ethical and theoretical issues raised by the particular reference to Australia and Southeast Asia; be able to demonstrate a knowledge of the history and theory of art conservation, with particular reference to Australia and Southeast Asia; be able to demonstrate a knowledge of the professional networks and policy developments in art conservation in Australasia; be able to demonstrate a knowledge of the professional networks and policy developments in art conservation in Australasia; be able to demonstrate a knowledge of the professional networks and policy developments in art conservation in Australasia; be able to demonstrate a knowledge of the pro	Time Commitment:	Contact Hours: 24 Total Time Commitment: 170
Recommended Background Knowledge: None Non Allowed Subjects: None For the purposes of considering request for Reasonable Adjustments under the disability Standards for Education (Cwth 2005), and Students Experiencing Academic Disadvantage Policy, academic requirements for this subject are articulated in the Subject Description, Subject Objectives, Generic Skills and Assessment Requirements of this entry. The University is dedicated to provide support to those with special requirements. Further details on the disability support scheme can be found at the Disability Liaison Unit website: http://www.services.unimelb.edu.au/disability/ Coordinator: Assoc Prof Alison Inglis asi@unimelb.edu.au (malito:asi@unimelb.edu.au) Subject Overview: This subject examines the history and theory of the conservation of art objects and collections, with particular reference to Australia. Students will gain a theoretical grounding in issues relating to conservation in Australia and internationally. Issues considered will include: the preventative care of art objects, the history of conservation issues in the display of works of art, and legal issues in conservation. # be able to demonstrate a knowledge of the history and theory of art conservation, with particular reference to Australia and Southeast Asia; # be able to demonstrate a knowledge of the history and theory of art conservation, with particular reference to Australia and Southeast Asia; # be able to demonstrate a knowledge of the ethical and theoretical issues raised by the cleaning, restoration, authentication and presentation of works of art; and # be able to demonstrate a knowledge of the ethical and theoretical issues raised by the cleaning, restoration, authentication and presentation of works of art; and # be able to demonstrate a knowledge of preventive conservation in requirements for transporting, storing and displaying work of art. Assessment: A 2500 word essay 50% (due during semester 2), and a 2500 word examination 50% (due during week following end of	Prerequisites:	Admission to the Master of Art Curatorship.
None Core Participation Requirements: For the purposes of considering request for Reasonable Adjustments under the disability Standards for Education (Cwth 2005), and Students Experiencing Academic Disadvantage Policy, academic requirements for this subject are articulated in the Subject Description, Subject Objectives, Generic Skills and Assessment Requirements for this entry. The University is dedicated to provide support to those with special requirements Further details on the disability support scheme can be found at the Disability Liaison Unit website: http:// www.services.unimelb.edu.au/disability/ Coordinator: Assoc Prof Alison Inglis Alison Inglis asi@unimelb.edu.au (mailto:asi@unimelb.edu.au) Subject Overview: This subject examines the history and theory of the conservation of art objects and collections, with particular reference to Australia. Students will gain a theoretical grounding in issues relating to conservation and an understanding of professional networks and policy developments in art conservation in Australia and internationally. Issues considered will include: the preventative care of art objects, the history of conservation, ethical and theoretical issues raised by cleaning, restoration, and authentication, conservation issues in the display of works of art, and legal issues in conservation. # be able to demonstrate a knowledge of the history and theory of art conservation, with particular reference to Australia and Southeast Asia; # be able to demonstrate an awareness of the professional networks and policy developments in art conservation in Australiasi; # be able to demonstrate and awareness of the professional networks and policy developments in art conservation in Australiasi; # be able to demonstrate and awareness of the professional networks and policy developments in art conservation in Australiasi; # be able to demonstrate and awareness of the professional networks and policy developments in art conservation in Australiasi; # be able to demonstrate and awareness of the	Corequisites:	None
Core Participation Requirements: For the purposes of considering request for Reasonable Adjustments under the disability Standards for Education (Cwth 2005), and Students Experiencing Academic Disadvantage Policy, academic requirements for this subject are articulated in the Subject Description, Subject Objectives, Generic Skills and Assessment Requirements of this entry. The University is dedicated to provide support to those with special requirements. Further details on the disability support scheme can be found at the Disability Liaison Unit website: http:// www.services.unimelb.edu.au/disability/ Coordinator: Assoc Prof Alison Inglis asi@unimelb.edu.au (mailto:asi@unimelb.edu.au) Subject Overview: This subject examines the history and theory of the conservation of art objects and collections, with particular reference to Australia. Students will gain a theoretical grounding in issues relating to conservation and an understanding of professional networks and policy developments in art conservation in Australia and internationally. Issues considered will include: the preventative care of art objects, the history of conservation, ethical and theoretical issues raised by cleaning, restoration, and authentication, conservation issues in the display of works of art, and legal issues in conservation. # be able to demonstrate a knowledge of the history and theory of art conservation, with particular reference to Australia and Southeast Asia; # be able to demonstrate a knowledge of the ethical and theoretical issues raised by the cleaning, restoration, authentication and presentation of works of art; and # be able to demonstrate a knowledge of the ethical and theoretical issues raised by the cleaning, restoration, authentication and presentation of works of art; and # be able to demonstrate a knowledge of the ethical and theoretical issues raised by the cleaning, restoration, authentication and presentation of works of art; and # be able to demonstrate a knowledge of preventive conservation and the conservati	Recommended Background Knowledge:	None
Standards for Education (Cwth 2005), and Students Experiencing Academic Disadvantage Policy, academic requirements for this subject are articulated in the Subject Description, Subject Objectives, Generic Skills and Assessment Requirements of this entry. The University is dedicated to provide support to those with special requirements. Further details on the disability support scheme can be found at the Disability Liaison Unit website: http://www.services.unimelb.edu.au/disability/ Coordinator: Assoc Prof Alison Inglis asi@unimelb.edu.au (mailto:asi@unimelb.edu.au) Subject Overview: This subject examines the history and theory of the conservation of art objects and collections, with particular reference to Australia, Students will gain a theoretical grounding in issues relating to conservation and an understanding of professional networks and policy developments in art conservation in Australia and internationally, Issues considered will include: the preventative care of art objects, the history of conservation, ethical and theoretical issues raised by cleaning, restoration, and authentication, conservation issues in the display of works of art, and legal issues in conservation. Learning Outcomes: # be able to demonstrate a knowledge of the history and theory of art conservation, with particular reference to Australia and Southeast Asia; # be able to demonstrate a nawareness of the professional networks and policy developments in art conservation in Australiasia; # be able to demonstrate a knowledge of the history and theoretical issues raised by the cleaning, restoration, authentication and presentation of works of art; and be able to demonstrate a knowledge of the ethical and theoretical issues raised by the cleaning, restoration, authentication and presentation of works of art; and be able to demonstrate a knowledge of preventive conservation and the conservation requirements for transporting, storing and displaying work of art. Assessment: A 2500 word essay 50% (due during semester 2), and a 2500 wo	Non Allowed Subjects:	None
Assoc Prof Alison Inglis asi@unimelb.edu.au (mailto:asi@unimelb.edu.au) This subject examines the history and theory of the conservation of art objects and collections, with particular reference to Australia. Students will gain a theoretical grounding in issues relating to conservation and an understanding of professional networks and policy developments in art conservation in Australia and internationally. Issues considered will include: the preventative care of art objects, the history of conservation, ethical and theoretical issues raised by cleaning, restoration, and authentication, conservation issues in the display of works of art, and legal issues in conservation. # be able to demonstrate a knowledge of the history and theory of art conservation, with particular reference to Australia and Southeast Asia; # be able to demonstrate an awareness of the professional networks and policy developments in art conservation in Australasia; # be able to demonstrate a knowledge of the ethical and theoretical issues raised by the cleaning, restoration, authentication and presentation of works of art; and # be able to demonstrate a knowledge of preventive conservation and the conservation requirements for transporting, storing and displaying work of art. Assessment: A 2500 word essay 50% (due during semester 2), and a 2500 word examination 50% (due during week following end of teaching). Students are required to attend a minimum of 80% (or 10 out of 12) classes in order to qualify to have their written work assessed. Any student who fails to meet this hurdle without valid reason will not be eligible to pass the subject. All required written work must be submitted in order to pass the subject. Essays submitted after the due date without an extension will be penalised 2% per day. Essays submitted after the due date without an extension will be penalised 2% per day. Essays submitted after two weeks of the assessment due date without a formally approved application for special consideration or an extension will only b	Core Participation Requirements:	Standards for Education (Cwth 2005), and Students Experiencing Academic Disadvantage Policy, academic requirements for this subject are articulated in the Subject Description, Subject Objectives, Generic Skills and Assessment Requirements of this entry. The University is dedicated to provide support to those with special requirements. Further details on the disability support scheme can be found at the Disability Liaison Unit website: http://
Subject Overview: This subject examines the history and theory of the conservation of art objects and collections, with particular reference to Australia. Students will gain a theoretical grounding in issues relating to conservation and an understanding of professional networks and policy developments in art conservation in Australia and internationally. Issues considered will include: the preventative care of art objects, the history of conservation, ethical and theoretical issues raised by cleaning, restoration, and authentication, conservation issues in the display of works of art, and legal issues in conservation. Learning Outcomes: # be able to demonstrate a knowledge of the history and theory of art conservation, with particular reference to Australia and Southeast Asia; # be able to demonstrate an awareness of the professional networks and policy developments in art conservation in Australasia; # be able to demonstrate a knowledge of the ethical and theoretical issues raised by the cleaning, restoration, authentication and presentation of works of art; and # be able to demonstrate a knowledge of preventive conservation and the conservation requirements for transporting, storing and displaying work of art. Assessment: A 2500 word essay 50% (due during semester 2), and a 2500 word examination 50% (due during week following end of teaching). Students are required to attend a minimum of 80% (or 10 out of 12) classes in order to qualify to have their written work assessed. Any student who fails to meet this hurdle without valid reason will not be eligible to pass the subject. All required written work must be submitted in order to pass the subject. Essays submitted after the due date without an extension will be penalised 2% per day. Essays submitted after the due date without an extension will be penalised 2% per day. Essays submitted after the due date without an extension will be penalised 2% per day. Essays submitted after the due	Coordinator:	Assoc Prof Alison Inglis with particular reference to Australia. Students will gain a theoretical grounding in issues relating to conservation and an understanding of professional networks and policy developments in art conservation in Australia and internationally. Issues considered will include: the preventative care of art objects, the history of conservation, ethical and theoretical issues raised by cleaning, restoration, and authentication, conservation issues in the display of works of art, and legal issues in conservation. # be able to demonstrate a knowledge of the history and theory of art conservation, with particular reference to Australia and Southeast Asia; # be able to demonstrate an awareness of the professional networks and policy developments in art conservation in Australasia; # be able to demonstrate a knowledge of the ethical and theoretical issues raised by the cleaning, restoration, authentication and presentation of works of art; and # be able to demonstrate a knowledge of preventive conservation and the conservation requirements for transporting, storing and displaying work of art. Assessment: A 2500 word essay 50% (due during semester 2), and a 2500 word examination 50% (due during week following end of teaching). Students are required to attend a minimum of 80% (or 10 out of 12) classes in order to qualify to have their written work assessed. Any student who fails to meet this hurdle without valid reason will not be eligible to pass the subject. All required written work must be submitted in order to pass the subject. Essays submitted after the due date without an extension will be penalised 2% per day. Essays submitted after two weeks of the assessment due date without a formally approved application for special consideration or an extension will only be marked on a pass/fail basis if accepted.	Contact:
particular reference to Australia and Southeast Asia; # be able to demonstrate an awareness of the professional networks and policy developments in art conservation in Australasia; # be able to demonstrate a knowledge of the ethical and theoretical issues raised by the cleaning, restoration, authentication and presentation of works of art; and # be able to demonstrate a knowledge of preventive conservation and the conservation requirements for transporting, storing and displaying work of art. Assessment: A 2500 word essay 50% (due during semester 2), and a 2500 word examination 50% (due during week following end of teaching). Students are required to attend a minimum of 80% (or 10 out of 12) classes in order to qualify to have their written work assessed. Any student who fails to meet this hurdle without valid reason will not be eligible to pass the subject. All required written work must be submitted in order to pass the subject. Essays submitted after the due date without an extension will be penalised 2% per day. Essays submitted after two weeks of the assessment due date without a formally approved application for special consideration or an extension will only be marked on a pass/fail basis if accepted.	Subject Overview:	with particular reference to Australia. Students will gain a theoretical grounding in issues relating to conservation and an understanding of professional networks and policy developments in art conservation in Australia and internationally. Issues considered will include: the preventative care of art objects, the history of conservation, ethical and theoretical issues raised by cleaning, restoration, and authentication, conservation issues in the display of works of art, and legal during week following end of teaching). Students are required to attend a minimum of 80% (or 10 out of 12) classes in order to qualify to have their written work assessed. Any student who fails to meet this hurdle without valid reason will not be eligible to pass the subject. All required written work must be submitted in order to pass the subject. Essays submitted after the due date without an extension will be penalised 2% per day. Essays submitted after two weeks of the assessment due date without a formally approved application for special consideration or an extension will only be marked on a pass/fail basis if accepted.	Learning Outcomes:	particular reference to Australia and Southeast Asia; # be able to demonstrate an awareness of the professional networks and policy developments in art conservation in Australasia; # be able to demonstrate a knowledge of the ethical and theoretical issues raised by the cleaning, restoration, authentication and presentation of works of art; and # be able to demonstrate a knowledge of preventive conservation and the conservation Prescribed Texts: None	Assessment:	during week following end of teaching). Students are required to attend a minimum of 80% (or 10 out of 12) classes in order to qualify to have their written work assessed. Any student who fails to meet this hurdle without valid reason will not be eligible to pass the subject. All required written work must be submitted in order to pass the subject. Essays submitted after the due date without an extension will be penalised 2% per day. Essays submitted after two weeks of the assessment due date without a formally approved application for special consideration or an
	Prescribed Texts:	None

Page 1 of 2 02/02/2017 9:51 A.M.

Breadth Options:	This subject is not available as a breadth subject.
Fees Information:	Subject EFTSL, Level, Discipline & Census Date, http://enrolment.unimelb.edu.au/fees
Generic Skills:	 # be able to research through the competent use of the library and other information sources, and be able to define areas of inquiry and methods of research in the preparation of essays; # be able to conceptualise theoretical problems, form judgments and arguments and communicate critically, creatively and theoretically through essay writing, tutorial discussion and presentations; # be able to communicate knowledge intelligibly and economically through essay writing and tutorial discussion; # be able to manage and organise workloads for recommended reading, the completion of essays and assignments and examination revision; and # be able to participate in team work through involvement in syndicate groups and group discussions.
Notes:	Intensive taught subject: 7 - 18 July 2014 (inclusive).
Related Majors/Minors/ Specialisations:	100 Point Master of Art Curatorship 150 Point Master of Art Curatorship 200 Point Master of Art Curatorship

Page 2 of 2 02/02/2017 9:51 A.M.