Subject Overview:	This subject provides participants with the opportunity to investigate an aspect of teaching and learning of mutual interest to them and to their departments. Supported by workshops, individual mentors and networks, each participant develops a complete and viable research proposal in an area of relevance to teaching and learning in their department/faculty. The completed report may subsequently be used as the basis for an application for funding and/or further research studies such as a Masters-level research project.
Learning Outcomes:	At the completion of the subject, participants should have developed: # skills in planning and developing a detailed proposal for research in higher education; # a research interest in relation to teaching and learning; # detailed knowledge of the research literature in one area of teaching and learning; # links with senior colleagues based on a common interest in teaching-related issues.
Assessment:	A 15 minute oral presentation of the problem statement and literature context, mid-semester 30%. A complete research proposal (4000 words) due end of semester 70%. Attendance at all classes (tutorial/seminars/practical classes/lectures/labs) is obligatory. Failure to attend 80% of classes will normally result in failure in the subject.
