Subject Overview:	Students will examine problems of linguistic and cultural difference through the process of translation between Indonesian and English. Students will enhance their expertise in practical Indonesian-English and English-Indonesian translation and will also be introduced to key theoretical issues in translation studies. Apart from regular practical translation exercises using selected texts on a range of topics – for example, legal documents, reports, speeches, and newspapers articles – existing translated pieces in both languages will also be presented for discussion and comparison. This is a bi-lingual subject, conducted in both Indonesian and English.
Learning Outcomes:	On successful completion of this subject, students should: develop enhanced translation skills; gain confidence in translating Indonesian and English texts; gain knowledge of general issues in translation studies including its relevance to cross-cultural understanding.
Assessment:	Two Indonesian to English translation pieces of 250 words at 10% each (early and mid semester) 20%, two English to Indonesian translation pieces of 250 words at 10% each (early and mid semester) 20%, a 1-hour translation test (late semester) 20%, a final essay proposal of 500 words (late semester) hurdle requirement, and a 2000-word final essay (during the examination period) 40%. Class attendance is required for this subject; if you do not attend a minimum of 80% of classes without an approved exemption you will not be eligible for a pass in this subject. Assessment submitted late without an approved extension will be penalised at 10% per day. In-class tasks missed without approval will not be marked. All pieces of written work must be submitted to pass this subject.
