Subject Overview:	This subject gives participants the opportunity for an in-depth practical study of musical improvisation techniques by introducing the participant to the marvellous and unique art of improvisation. This performance-based subject introduces the practice of musical improvisation for those musicians who have had little or no experience in the art of real time creative music-making. Open to any instrumental or voice performer, this 'free play ensemble' will open your journey to a new musical freedom.
Learning Outcomes:	On completing this subject students will be able to: <ul style="list-style-type: none">• understand the practice of musical improvisation as real time composition utilising tools such as melody, harmony, rhythm, intensity, texture, intent, emotion, gesture, drama and extended techniques:

	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • understand the creation of music from the perspective of 'play' where the individual is challenged to create musical expression within the complexity of a group environment; • demonstrate some personal approaches to performing improvised music; • demonstrate a greater awareness of music as an aural art form acutely linked to site-specific factors such as acoustics and audience; • demonstrate a developing sense of musical imagination and musical intuition.
Assessment:	Classroom participation (via weekly performance and discussion) - Weeks 1 to 12 (50%) Group Performance - Week 12 (50%) HURDLE REQUIREMENTS: Students must attend 80% of all scheduled classes and attempt all elements of assessment to be eligible for a pass in this subject. LATE SUBMISSIONS: Unless an extension has been granted, for essays/assignments submitted after the due date, the mark a student is awarded for their work will be reduced by 10% for each day the work is late. Using electronic submission means work may be submitted on any day. Unless an extension has been granted, assignments submitted later than 5 working days (or 1 week if due on a weekend) after the due date will not be marked, and will receive no marks.
