Subject Overview:	In this subject, students will be required to create and perform a new short work. The style and content of these works will be dictated by the particular skills and interests of the student but must involve at least two of the 'triple threat' areas of singing, dancing and acting. Initial introductory workshops will focus on devising skills and understanding form. With much of the emphasis on autonomous creative practice and self-direction, tutors will provide regular feedback, guidance and provocation towards new directions.
Learning Outcomes:	Upon completion of this subject, students should be able to: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• Create and perform an original piece of theatre, utilising at least two of the three core disciplines of Music Theatre in combination</li> <li>• Articulate a personal point of view, aesthetic and/or experience of the world for an audience</li> <li>• Utilise a range of skills in devising and/or adapting work</li> <li>• Offer and utilise constructive feedback</li> <li>• Find a meaningful connection between the interplay of the core disciplines utilised in their work</li> <li>• Perform their own work with connection and commitment based on a sound personal rehearsal process, developed through skills building from Years 1 and 2 Acting, Singing and Dance Studies classes.</li> </ul>
Assessment:	Continuous: based on participation in workshops and classes; progressive work practice in developing new work (creative development/rehearsal) throughout first and second semester (40%) Formal: based on performance (40%) Written: submission of completed text/score of performance and journal summarising the process of development of 1,500 words to be submitted at the end of the second semester (20%)
