Subject Overview:	This subject is team taught by the art history program, introducing the experience of research in art history by focusing on the work of art through the distinctive methodologies and problems that the program's art historians have separately adopted, as specialist in different periods of art history, to approach the works of different periods. This subject introduces students to these different periods through encounters with art in Melbourne collections, institutions, museums and civic spaces, and through encounters with specialists whose job it is to conserve, collect and display these objects. This subject will involve the students in research and interpretation of the works of art encountered in Melbourne institutions. The subject develops a broad understanding of the historical and aesthetic characteristics of artworks produced during selected artistic periods (for example High Renaissance, baroque, rococo, neoclassical, contemporary art). The subject draws attention to the varying contexts informing works of art, including the relationship between art and its methods of production and preservation; its engagement with society and installation in museum settings; and the different ways in which viewers respond to art and interpret the meanings and messages which it conveys. Students will develop a range of approaches to understanding art, from issues of censorship and art, to gender and sexual identity in art, and art and politics. The subject provides students with a fundamental grounding in the methodologies of the discipline of history, and in the broader critical and analytical skills necessary for the study of art at higher levels.
Assessment:	A 400 word exercise 20% (due during the semester), a 2000 word research essay 40% (due during the semester) and a visual test equivalent to 1600 words 40% (held in the examination period). A minimum 75% attendance at tutorials is also expected as a hurdle requirement in order to pass the subject. Assessment submitted late without an approved formal extension will be penalised at 2% per day. Students who fail to submit up to 2-weeks after the final due date without a formal extension and/or special consideration will receive a fail grade for the piece of assessment.
