Subject Overview:	This subject will explore different approaches to identifying, evaluating and managing risk in organisations. From strategic issues to tactical, and from the boardroom to the operations manager, all organisations face risk. A comprehensive approach to managing risks involves connecting stakeholder expectations, including social responsibility factors, governance, and strategic decisions and performance both financial and non-financial. This subject will examine frameworks and literatures, case studies and systems that can contribute to effective risk management. Participants will gain an appreciation of the dynamic and contingent nature of corporate risk, its relationship to business success, current practice and tools and examples. This will provide them with an introduction to both the technical and professional aspects of successful risk management.
Assessment:	A 2-hour examination (40%), assignments not exceeding 5000 words (50%) and class participation and presentations (10%).
