Subject Overview:	This subject focuses on the world of Classical Athens through a study of selected works of literature and art. During the course of the subject students should become familiar with Greek tragedy and comedy, the importance of myth and religion in Athenian literature and art, and the principal material evidence for Classical Athens. The subject also focuses on the society which produced such literature and art. Particular attention will be paid to examining the notion of the city-state and democracy in Athens, and the role of women in Athenian society. On completion of the subject students should recognise the distinctive features of Athenian culture and understand the main scholarly approaches to the study of Classical Athens.
Assessment:	An essay of 2000 words 50% (due mid-semester), and an essay of 2000 words 50% (due at the end of semester). Hurdle requirements: students must attend 70% of tutorials and submit both essays in order to be eligible for final assessment.
