Course Overview:	The postgraduate diploma allows students to undertake a research project in cultural material conservation. Students of this course will gain considerable knowledge in an area of cultural material conservation and engage in critical assessment of the major theoretical or practical tenets. The course provides a pathway to higher degree research for students who have not completed a four year undergraduate degree with research component in cultural material conservation. The Post Graduate Diploma will be available as an exit award for the Masters program.
Objectives:	Students who complete the Postgraduate Diploma in Arts (Cultural Material Conservation) should: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> # develop an in-depth knowledge of theories and methodologies in cultural material conservation; # gain an understanding of the role of cultural material in the economic, social and cultural wellbeing of individuals, communities and nations; # be able to access, appreciate and contribute to national and international debates, protocols and conventions relevant to cultural material conservation; # be able to act as informed advocates for cultural material conservation and play a leadership role within the sector, actively engaging in critical policy issues; # develop an appreciation of cultural diversity, community sensitivities and a changing social context to the scientific and historical paradigms that exist within the cultural heritage and conservation sectors; # be able to apply critical and analytical skills and methods, and a cross disciplinary understanding and approach, to the identification and resolution of conservation issues; # be able to competently and independently develop, communicate and apply conservation methodologies that are scientifically and technically sound, ethical, and consistent with cultural contexts and community needs; # develop a strong sense of professional and ethical responsibility for cultural heritage and an awareness of the moral and legal responsibilities of professional practice.
