Subject Overview:	This subject focuses on various aspects of contemporary German language. It will aim at consolidating and expanding students' proficiency in both written and spoken language. It will continue with the development of communicative skills with reference to the main registers of contemporary German. The subject will also aim at demonstrating the differences between colloquial, formal and specialised registers where appropriate, and at activating and furthering skills in oral and written communication. It combines this with a study of language functions and grammatical structures. Listening skills will be developed through the use of different types of audio-visual materials and writing and reading skills through a variety of text types and sources, including the Internet and computer-assisted learning tools.
Objectives:	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> # enhance their capacity to use basic idiomatic and conversational forms and the ability to employ them freely in speech; # consolidate a level of proficiency in written structures of moderate complexity and extend the capacity to use such structures clearly and accurately; # acquire the ability to interpret messages of a high level of complexity occurring in a variety of multimedia approaches; # develop a conceptual understanding of language use through a study of functions and grammar; # achieve a level of language competence required for admission into German Language and Culture 3A
