Subject Overview:	This advanced seminar examines key aspects of the nature of the Soviet political system under Stalin, especially as we now understand them in the light of new archival materials. It also considers the way in which these problems have been viewed by historians in the past. The problem of labelling certain aspects and excluding them from further critical discussion is a key element both of Stalinism and of studies of this phenomena.
Objectives:	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> # should gain an improved understanding of how the political system under Stalin worked and of how historians have analysed this system; # should be able to appreciate the way in which labels have been applied to the policies of the time, but should also be able to penetrate below the labelling to appreciate the nature of the political problems studied.
Assessment:	An essay of 5000 words 100% (due at the end of semester).
Prescribed Texts:	A subject reader will be available at beginning of semester
