Subject Overview:	In this subject students will read a series of experimental literary texts in French, discovering the patterns and irregularities in their structure. An understanding of how these texts are put together will be applied in a series of writing exercises employing constraints similar to those discovered in the reading. Students also explore the poetic function of language through the systematic study of word play and come to appreciate the literary potential of spoken French. On completing the subject students should have an understanding of the historical relations between the prescribed texts and a sense of experimental possibilities as yet unexplored. The subject will be taught in French.
Objectives:	# have an understanding of the historical relations between the prescribed texts and a sense of experimental possibilities as yet unexplored.
Assessment:	One class paper in French equivalent to 1000 words 30% (due during the semester), one folio of writing exercises in French totalling 1600 words 35% (due during the examination period), one critical essay in French totalling 1400 words 35% (due during the examination period).
Prescribed Texts:	A subject reader will be available through the University of Melbourne Bookshop Atlas de littérature potentielle (Oulipo) Folio Pierrot mon ami (Raymond Queneau) Folio
