Subject Overview:	This subject explores a range of social theories and methodologies which have influenced the writing of history since the Enlightenment, including empiricism, Marxism, cultural history, postcolonialism, feminism and poststructuralism. The subject also examines the task of writing history; the archival and bibliographical practices upon which history writing is based; and the creative act of transforming historical sources into interpretative narratives to communicate to others. Students should encounter knowledges, skills and practices which provide a valuable basis for independent critical inquiry and research-based writing.
Objectives:	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> # be introduced to significant issues in the theory and practice of history; # develop skills in research and writing as a preparation for the fourth-year honours thesis.
