Subject Overview:	This subject introduces students to a history of theories in architecture in the modern era from the pre-war decades to the present. It introduces theories available in English and those which have significantly influenced design practice in the West and parts of the Asia-Pacific region from the 1920s and 1950s to the present. Development of ideas in other regions and times may be explored by students in relation to these theories. In general this subject provides a temporal, historical and socio-political perspective in which contemporary anxieties, polemics and strategies can be understood. This shall prepare students for their own inquiry and for a development of their own design and critical positions in the following years.
Objectives:	On completion of the subject students should be able to: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> # have an introductory knowledge of the major architectural theories of the modern era in the West and parts of Asia; # investigate a particular architectural theory for critical debate and to develop it for their own design practice.
Assessment:	Research Paper - 2500 words Manifesto Paper - 1500 words Bi-weekly summaries of subject readings (approx. 250 words) Class participation and attendance The 2500 word Research Paper is a hurdle requirement.
