Subject Overview:	The aim of this subject is to introduce students to the archaeology of the Mediterranean in the Classical and Hellenistic periods (5th-1st centuries BC), examining how the construction projects of Pericles transformed the physical appearance of Athens and how Athens and the whole of mainland Greece changed over the next four centuries. We shall examine the archaeology of other Greek cities, such as Miletus, Ephesus, Syracuse and Alexandria, and many further examples from Italy, Sicily, Spain etc. to see how they developed over the period. The subject will also explore the differences in material culture between the Classical and Hellenistic periods.
Objectives:	Students who successfully complete this subject should... * possess a knowledge of the material culture of the Mediterranean world in the 5th-1st centuries BC. * understand how and why key cities such as Athens were transformed. * be able to analyse and distinguish the complexities between the archaeology of the Classical and Hellenistic periods
Assessment:	A tutorial presentation and essay of 2500 words 60% (due during semester) and a take-home exam of 1500 words 30% (due during the examination period) and tutorial participation 10%. Hurdle requirement: students must attend a minimum of 75% of tutorials in order to pass this subject.
