Subject Overview:	Criminal law has a central importance in criminology, since it is the criminal law which determines the legality or illegality of behaviours. This subject studies criminal law as it governs court processes and selected offences within Victoria. The first section of the course covers the institutions and practices of criminal law, with particular emphasis on courts and criminal responsibility. The second section focuses on substantive offences in criminal law: sexual assault and sexual offences. non-fatal violent offences. the law relating to homicide. and criminal defences. Issues of gender, ethnicity and sexual orientation are raised. Students completing the subject should be able to understand the structure of criminal law, appreciate the forms and meanings of legal discourse, identify ways in which criminal law responds to social problems, and conduct research on criminal legal matters.
Objectives:	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li># receive an introduction to methods of reading legal materials.</li> <li># be able to describe and analyse ways of regulating crime through criminal law.</li> <li># understand the workings of the institutions and practices of criminal law.</li> <li># be able to explain the role and construction of gender, sexual orientation and ethnicity in the criminal law.</li> </ul>
Assessment:	An essay of 2000 words (50%) due mid-semester, and a take-home examination of 2000 words of written answers (50%) due at the end of semester.
Prescribed Texts:	A subject reader will be available for purchase from the University Bookshop.
