Subject Overview:	This subject provides an alternative view of the globalised workplace. Its theme is social justice. It compares the employment systems of different countries. In doing so, it attempts to identify and explain the different experiences of workers around the world by examining how employment systems have evolved and how different nations deal with the same problems. Countries that may be studied include the United States, Britain, Sweden, Germany, Japan and Hong Kong. Issues that may be considered include refugees, outworking, child labour and trade union decline.
Objectives:	On successful completion of this subject, you should be able to: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> # Explain the industrial relations systems of several nations # Compare the character of common international workplace features # Analyse the situation of disadvantaged groups in the labour market in the context of the rise of the multinational corporation.
Assessment:	A 2-hour examination (60%) and assignment(s) totalling not more than 4000 words (40%).
