Subject Overview:	This subject explores ways that the economic production of goods and services shapes the vitality, structure and planning agenda of cities. It uses an economic sectoral perspective to demonstrate how sectors like manufacturing, transport, services and creative activities have locational impacts in certain cities and within selected parts of cities. Complex planning issues, requiring judgements about the competing demands of economic development and social needs, are associated with the growth and decline of sectors in their particular urban contexts. Special attention will be paid to innovation in city development, and to the planning of infrastructure in airports, seaports and telecommunications.
Objectives:	# Address complex planning issues in particular urban economic contexts.
Assessment:	Tutorial papers not exceeding 1000 words in total (20%);An essay not exceeding 2000 words (40%);And a two-hour examination (40%).
