Subject Overview:	This course will introduce students to ancient Greek and Roman culture. Through a study of ancient literary texts, art, and society, students will explore the mythic origins, heroic archetypes, gods and goddesses, monuments and societies of the Greeks and Romans. The subject will focus on the apex of classical Greek civilisation in the fifth century BC, and the end of the Roman Republic and beginning of the early Imperial period in the first centuries BCE and CE. The subject will cover topics such as the Homeric poems, Greek and Roman religions, ancient theatre, literary and artistic culture, sexuality and gender roles, militarism and imperialism, and the fate of marginalised groups, such as women, slaves, freedmen, prostitutes, gladiators and stage performers. The subject will also consider the ways in which modern Western culture has inherited and appropriated aspects of ancient civilisation, claiming it as a model in fields ranging from epic film and architectural design to political structure and imperial aspiration.
Objectives:	Students who successfully complete this subject should... <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li># demonstrate knowledge of the history and culture of ancient Greece and Rome.</li> <li># appreciate the complexities of an ancient, multi-cultural society.</li> <li># be able to think critically about the origins of the Western tradition.</li> <li># gain an understanding of cultural difference.</li> </ul>
Assessment:	A tutorial paper of 500 words 10% (due in Week 4), an essay of 1500 words 40% (due in Week 8) and a 2-hour examination 50% (due during the examination period). Hurdle requirement: students must attend a minimum of 75% of tutorials in order to pass this subject. Assessment submitted late without an approved extension will be penalised at 10% per day; after five days, no late assessment will be accepted. In-class tasks missed without approval will not be marked. All pieces of written work must be submitted to pass this subject.
