Ideally the topic selected would be directly relevant to the student's interests or field of endeavour. The topic is decided in consultation with the course coordinator early during the intensive teaching period, allowing the maximum time to make use of the library and expertise of the course lecturers, in the preparation of the bibliography.   |                |                            |                |   |                        |       |  |                        |       |
