Subject Overview:	In this subject each student will write and craft either a theatre playscript, a radio play, or film/ TV script. The student will decide on the particular medium early in the semester during the workshoping process. Scripts will be developed to professional workshoping standard. This is a workshop subject and will focus on teaching students to understand their own creative processes, generate and craft their material, and develop skills of writing performative language. These skills will be developed through writing exercises, discussion, study of material in the subject reader and particularly through feedback to students presenting their work.
Objectives:	Students completing this subject will: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> # appreciate the creative and critical thinking, the research and the writing and crafting skills, involved in producing a script to professional production (or professional workshoping) standard; # demonstrate an understanding of how to re-conceptualise and rewrite from feedback and workshoping; # strengthen and deepen cooperation and collaboration skills through workshoping; # gain a better understanding of the history and culture of theatre/performance locally, nationally and internationally in order to contextualise their own work; and # gain a realistic understanding of professional production possibilities, funding bodies and funding options.
Assessment:	A 30-minute script equivalent to 4000 words developed to professional workshoping standard plus a 500-word plot outline 80% (to be submitted at the end of the semester), a 500 word review of a theatre production, performance, radio or film 10% (to be submitted at the end of the semester), attendance and participation in the workshops 10%. Students are required to attend a minimum of 75% of classes in order to qualify to have their written work assessed. All required written work must be submitted in order to pass the subject.
Prescribed Texts:	A subject reader will be available.
Breadth Options:	This subject is not available as a breadth subject.
