Overview:	Chinese language subjects are organised in a progressive sequence (of units) from Chinese 1 through to Chinese 10. Entry and exit points are determined by the student's background in the language, placement testing, pre-requisites or at the discretion of the Chinese program. Students normally progress through the subjects in consecutive order. Mid-year entry is also possible into subjects with even numbers, subject to appropriate prior experience and approval from the head of the Chinese program.
Objectives:	See course objectives
Structure & Available Subjects:	Students study Chinese as a Graduate Diploma through a progression of eight language subjects (100 credit points), 75 credit points of compulsory language subjects and 25 credit points of elective subjects taken in sequence usually over 3 years part-time. Due to the wide range of student language proficiency entry points (from beginner to fluent), the Chinese program provides four language entry points. The sequence is as follows for each entry point for the Graduate Diploma: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> # Chinese 1 entry point: Students with no previous knowledge of the language usually enter the progression at Chinese 1. # Chinese 3 (post VCE) entry point: Students who have completed VCE Chinese (Second Language or IB equivalent) or have an equivalent language level usually enter the progression at Chinese 3 Post VCE. # Chinese 7 entry point: Students who have a Chinese-speaking background and minimal literacy skills usually enter the progression at Chinese 7. # Chinese 9 entry point: Students who have a Chinese-speaking background and limited literacy in Chinese usually enter the progression at Chinese 9. Students will have their appropriate entry point determined by the Chinese Program, based on evidence of prior learning and/or results of a placement test as required.
