Subject Overview:	Focused on physical education and community sport, this subject examines the place and significance of sport in Australia as a form of social education. It examines both historical and contemporary issues related to growing tensions between sport's traditional role as a form of moral education and the emergence of sport as a commercial commodity. It will include topics such as elite sport versus sport for all, health and participation rates, gender, violence and race.
Objectives:	On completion of the course it is expected that students should be able to: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> # Demonstrate an understanding of the changing place and practice of sport and physical education in the curriculum of Australian schools. # Explain why sport and physical activity assume such importance in lives of many young Australians. # Illustrate how sports programs can be used to engage young people with education and provide opportunities for socialization into Australian culture. # Identify major social and educational issues arising from tensions between the traditional model of sport in schools and community settings, and a model of sport as a commercial commodity in Australia. # Describe how elite level commercial sport can impact on learning and on the practice of community-based sport and sport in schools.
