Subject Overview:	This subject will enable students to extend their practical and theoretical understanding of the arts in relation to primary education. In this practice-based subject, students will be supported in the development of their arts skills, their arts pedagogy and their theoretical understanding of arts practice in the curriculum. Through engagement with a series of workshop or studio-based tasks, students will be introduced to the two key principles of this subject: the skills and craft underpinning their specific arts practices and the concept of the classroom as an artistic and creative environment. The subject will provide teacher candidates with an understanding of a range of contemporary arts practices in the primary school, an understanding of the processes associated with art making with children, and the relationship between arts in educational and cultural settings. Teacher candidates will create their own studio-based work, will work with children in school settings and will engage in curriculum development and theoretically-informed reflection. The subject will entail practical workshops and group-work supported by theories of aesthetic curriculum and embodied learning
Objectives:	On completion of this subject, teacher candidates will have the knowledge, skills and understanding to enable them to: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> # Articulate the importance of the aesthetic elements of teaching and learning; # Have practised basic artistic skills necessary for effective pedagogy # To examine contemporary artistic teaching contexts
Assessment:	There are 3 assessment tasks: A written assignment (1300 words) (30%) A curriculum project (1300 words) (30%) A folio and /or performance project (1400 words equivalent) (40%)
