Subject Overview:	Students in this subject intensively revise and further develop their knowledge of contemporary Italian language and culture. The subject combines analysis of language structures with a practical focus, all designed to extend students' linguistic capacities in reading, writing, listening, speaking and describing the Italian language. Students also explore aspects of contemporary Italian literature, society and history through a programmatic study of post-war Italy. Students develop a critical capacity enabling them to understand and analyse a variety of text types (film, music, mass media, literature, etc.). Communication skills will also be developed through online and face-to-face collaboration in a range of in- and out-of-class activities.
Objectives:	Students who complete this subject will: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> # increase their linguistic competence through regular practice in the use of the Italian language combined with the systematic study of linguistic structures # develop their spoken, written and comprehension skills # acquire the ability to analyse a range of contemporary texts in Italian and to ground the study of the language in an understanding of contemporary Italian language and culture # analyse and discuss aspects of contemporary Italian language and culture, particularly in the post-WW2 era # develop an understanding of aspects of the social, political, historical, linguistic and cultural contexts of contemporary Italian language and culture as well as international awareness and openness to the world through contextualisation of knowledge

	# develop critical self-awareness and an openness to new ideas and new aspects of Italian language and culture through negotiation of personal views
