

LAWS70382 Business and Human Rights

Credit Points:	12.50
Level:	7 (Graduate/Postgraduate)
Dates & Locations:	2012, Parkville This subject commences in the following study period/s: March, Parkville - Taught on campus.
Time Commitment:	Contact Hours: The total class time is between 24 and 26 hours. Total Time Commitment: Not available
Prerequisites:	None.
Corequisites:	None.
Recommended Background Knowledge:	Applicants without legal qualifications should note that subjects are offered in the discipline of law at an advanced graduate level. While every effort will be made to meet the needs of students trained in other fields, concessions will not be made in the general level of instruction or assessment. Most subjects assume the knowledge usually acquired in a degree in law (LLB, JD or equivalent). Applicants should note that admission to some subjects in the Melbourne Law Masters will be dependent upon the individual applicant's educational background and professional experience.
Non Allowed Subjects:	None.
Core Participation Requirements:	The Melbourne Law Masters welcomes applications from students with disabilities. The inherent academic requirements for study in the Melbourne Law Masters are: The ability to attend a minimum of 75% of classes and actively engage in the analysis of complex materials and debate; The ability to read, analyse and comprehend complex written legal materials and complex interdisciplinary materials; The ability to clearly and independently communicate in writing a knowledge and application of legal principles and interdisciplinary materials and critically evaluate these; The ability to clearly and independently communicate orally a knowledge and application of legal principles and interdisciplinary materials and critically evaluate these; The ability to work independently and as a part of a group; The ability to present orally and in writing legal analysis to a professional standard. Students who feel their disability will inhibit them from meeting these inherent academic requirements are encouraged to contact the Disability Liaison Unit: www.services.unimelb.edu.au/disability/
Contact:	For more information, contact the Melbourne Law Masters office. Email law-masters@unimelb.edu.au (mailto:law-masters@unimelb.edu.au) or phone +61 3 8344 6190. Alternatively, visit our website: www.law.unimelb.edu.au/masters (http://www.law.unimelb.edu.au/masters)
Subject Overview:	The private sector represents one of the most important and daunting challenges facing the human rights community. As the reach and influence of companies have grown – often dwarfing the states in which they operate – their impact on human rights has become impossible to ignore. Human rights have become the currency of major brands, helping determine Citibank financing, Exxon-Mobil relations with communities, and working conditions along Wal-Mart's enormous supply chain. Shareholder activists, NGOs, social movements, media and governments are demanding greater transparency and reporting on human rights. The United Nations (UN), the Organisation for Economic Co-operation and Development (OECD) and the multilateral banks have adopted human rights standards for companies, and a growing body of soft and hard law (domestic and international) is beginning to define the precise scope of corporate human rights obligations. This course will explore the fast-growing field of business and human rights, highlighting the most critical legal and practical issues surrounding efforts to advance corporate responsibility and accountability.

	The lecturer brings 20 years of experience working in the field of business and human rights as an advocate and adviser (to communities, NGOs and businesses). Principal topics will include: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> # The historic emergence of the business and human rights debate # The political and ideological challenge to applying human rights to business # The legal framework and institutions for corporate human rights # The ruggie framework and UN guiding principles # Multi-stakeholder initiatives and soft law human rights standards # Key legal challenges: 'Non-state actors', 'sphere of influence' and 'complicity' # Litigating corporate human rights # Non-legal advocacy strategies # Case studies highlighting business and human rights # The business perspective on human rights and implementation challenges.
Objectives:	A student who has successfully completed this subject should: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> # Understand the current legal status of human rights as they apply to businesses # Recognise and understand the workings of the key legal instruments and bodies relevant to business and human rights # Understand the political, legal and practical challenges in applying human rights standards to businesses # Be able to apply general human rights principles to evaluate the conduct of companies in specific cases # Be able to think strategically about the different points of leverage (legal, financial, political) in promoting greater human rights accountability from companies
Assessment:	Take-home examination (100%) (12 pm 11 May to 5 pm 14 May) or 10,000 word research paper (100%) (28 June) on a topic approved by the subject coordinator
Prescribed Texts:	Core subject materials will be provided free of charge to all students. Some subjects require further texts to be purchased. Visit the Melbourne Law Masters website for more information about this subject.
Breadth Options:	This subject is not available as a breadth subject.
Fees Information:	Subject EFTSL, Level, Discipline & Census Date, http://enrolment.unimelb.edu.au/fees
Links to further information:	http://www.law.unimelb.edu.au/masters/courses-and-subjects/subject-details/sid/5135