Subject Overview:	This subject is designed to impart skills and knowledge central to music making processes in various West African cultures. Integrating practical and academic study the subject will focus on understanding the musical complexities of West African music and dance both in its sociocultural context and through hands-on participation at weekly rehearsals and supporting lectures, culminating in an end of semester performance. It will investigate structural components and procedures common to many African music forms and explore their application to particular pieces. It will provide simple and practical methodologies for mastering the rhythmic complexities in West African music.
Objectives:	On completion of this subject, students should have gained: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• the skills to perform West African percussion music and dance to a competent standard;</li> <li>• an understanding of the context of West African music and dance;</li> <li>• an understanding of polyrhythm, polymetre, syncopation, off-beat patterning and other structural components in African music;</li> <li>• an understanding of the relationship between dance movement and music patterning;</li> <li>• competency as ensemble musicians; and</li> <li>• an ability to identify and understand the broad and diverse cultural references of the relevant repertoire.</li> </ul>
Assessment:	Active participation in all rehearsals and performances throughout the semester (50%); A one-hour written exam at the end of semester (30%); One thirty-minute listening test during week 11 (20%). Less than 80% attendance will result in a fail. All assessment components must be passed in order to pass the subject.

Prescribed Texts:	Readings will be available online through the LMS before the commencement of the semester.
