	To be accepted into the Master of Music, students should normally have a Bachelor of Music (Honours) degree in composition, or equivalent, with a final result of first-class honours or high second-class honours. Successful applicants will typically be embarking upon a professional career as a composer. Application Procedure Further details regarding how to apply are available via the Melbourne Conservatorium of Music website: http://www.conservatorium.unimelb.edu.au/mmus (http://www.conservatorium.unimelb.edu.au/mmus) Students are encouraged to provide as much detailed information in support of their application as possible and to discuss their application with a member of the Academic Staff prior to submission. Certified transcripts of academic records at any tertiary institution other than The University of Melbourne must be forwarded with the application. If the transcript is not in English, a certified translation must also be provided. Composition Folio Applicants for the Composition stream are required to submit a selection of original music with their application. This should comprise two or three representative works only, at least one of which should be a sustained work of over 10 minutes duration. It should include at least one notated, bound score and at least one work written in the last 2 years. Recordings of MIDI versions are acceptable, however it is advisable to submit at least one example of a live or studio performance. All recordings, including electro-acoustic works, should be submitted on CD. Applicants should also include a list of works composed (including instrumentation, duration, and date), together with a list of any publications (scores & recordings), performances and broadcasts to date. Evidence of Scholarly Ability Applicants intending to undertake the Minor Thesis option are required to submit a copy of their Honours dissertation or a substantial piece of scholarly writing with their application. Evidence of research ability Applicants are normally required to have completed a research project, component, subject or group of subjects that accounts for at least 25% of their work (i.e. Honours year), or 25% of one year accumulated over the length of a Masters course, and which has, or have, been conducted, and assessed, individually. Research carried out in groups should at least have been graded individually. This project, component, or subject(s) may include: (a) any obviously research oriented project, subject or sustained piece of scholarly writing conducted for assessment, such as small theses, research essays, long essays, or studios; AND/OR (b) any less-obviously research subjects, including practice-based subjects such as performance or fieldwork, where there is also scholastic rigor as documented in a sustained piece of writing analogous to (a); AND/OR (c) any subjects directed at the formation of research skills, such as methodology and reasoning, such as scientific reasoning, or legal reasoning, where a sustained piece of writing has also been produced.
Core Participation Requirements:	It is University policy to take all reasonable steps to minimise the impact of disability upon academic study, and reasonable adjustments will be made to enhance a student's participation in the University's programs. Students who feel their disability will impact on meeting the requirements of this course are encouraged to discuss this matter with a Faculty Student Adviser and the Disability Liaison Unit.

Graduate Attributes:	Research Masters degrees at the University of Melbourne seek to develop graduates who have a capacity for defining and managing a research project characterised by originality and independence. Their training equips them for more sustained and original work at the doctoral level or for applied research positions in a wider variety of contexts.
