Subject Overview:	This subject is designed for students who commenced the Latin stream with no prior knowledge of the language and have completed Latin 1 and Latin 2, Intensive Beginners Latin, or equivalent. Students examine Roman rhetorical practice through the study of an oratorical text, such as a speech of Cicero. In addition, work is undertaken on grammar and syntax to revise, consolidate and extend students' knowledge of the language. Students who complete this subject should be familiar with the structures and stylistic techniques of Roman oratory, be able to identify the roles of rhetorical practice in Roman social and political life, and understand its function as an instrument of Roman elite self-definition. Students who complete this subject may progress to Latin 4.

Objectives:	Students who successfully complete this subject should: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> · be familiar with the style of Roman oratory. · understand the cultural and production contexts of the text. · have consolidated their knowledge of grammar and syntax and extended their vocabulary. · be able to critically analyse the styles and themes of Latin oratory.
Assessment:	Weekly tutorial exercises, equivalent to 750 words 25% (due each week throughout the semester), textual analysis, equivalent to 500 words 10% (due in Week 8 of semester), an assessment test equivalent to 1000 words 30% (due at the end of semester) and a 1750-word essay 35 % (due in the examination period). This subject has a minimum hurdle requirement of 75% tutorial attendance. Assessment submitted late without an approved extension will be penalised at 10% per day. In-class tasks missed without approval will not be marked. All pieces of written work must be submitted to pass this subject.
