Subject Overview:	This subject focuses on the role of personal, societal, and historical contexts in the use and development of languages in the Indonesian archipelago, focussing on specific Indonesian societies (eg. Batak, Javanese, Maluku) and the Indonesian nation as a whole. The subject engages with issues of language in society including language planning, literacy, politeness, multi-lingualism, interpersonal interaction, traditional and modern communication systems, differences in style according to genre (eg. written and spoken language), function (eg. conversational, ritual, or political language) and social identity (eg. class, ethnic, gender or sexual identification). Students should develop an understanding of the close relationship that social context, interpersonal interaction, and culture have with language form and usage.
Objectives:	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> # understand the role of social interaction, culture and context in language use and the language change. # appreciate sociolinguistic approaches to analysing language. # recognise and explain the role of language and society in a variety of specific cultural contexts in Indonesian as well as generally within the country as a whole.
Assessment:	Two short essays of 1000 words each, 25% each (one due early semester, one due late semester) and one essay of 2000 words, 50% (due during the examination period). Class attendance is required for this subject; if you do not attend a minimum of 80% of classes without an approved exemption you will not be eligible for a pass in this subject. Assessment submitted late without an approved extension will be penalised at 10% per day. In-class tasks missed without approval will not be marked. All pieces of written work must be submitted to pass this subject.
