Subject Overview:	This subject critically studies the three classical approaches to moral philosophy: Aristotle 'virtue ethics, Immanuel Kant' deontology, and John Stuart Mill's Utilitarianism. As well as examining works by these great thinkers, we look at debates among the contemporary heirs to the traditions they started. For further subject information please visit: http://shaps.unimelb.edu.au/students/undergraduate/handbook-study-guides.html (http://shaps.unimelb.edu.au/students/undergraduate/handbook-study-guides.html)
Objectives:	Students who successfully complete this subject will: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> # have developed an understanding of the main approaches to the nature of morality. # understand the historical antecedents to important contemporary approaches to the nature of morality. # be able to think critically about, and to evaluate, the philosophical cogency of those views. # have acquired a background for their own further philosophical reflection on morality.
Assessment:	A written assignment of 2000 words 50% (due mid-semester), a 2-hour closed-book written examination 50% (held during the end of semester examination period).
