Subject Overview:	Nietzsche's bold and original challenges to traditional morality and the primacy of reason have made him one of the best known and most influential of modern thinkers. This course provides a broad introduction to Nietzsche as a philosopher by addressing his views on a range of themes such as tragedy, history, morality, knowledge, the eternal recurrence and the will to power. We also consider some of Nietzsche's more prominent critics and the wide range of interpretations to which his rich but controversial work have given rise.
Objectives:	Students who successfully complete this subject will: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> # understand some of the key themes and aims of Nietzsche's thought. # have developed the ability to engage critically and independently with Nietzsche's philosophical ideas. # be able to bring to bear this understanding on their other studies, inside and outside philosophy.
Assessment:	A written assignment of 2000 words 50% (due mid-semester), a 2-hour closed-book written examination 50% (during the end of semester examination period). This subject has a minimum hurdle requirement of 75% tutorial participation. Regular participation in tutorials is required. Assessment submitted late without an approved extension will be penalised at 10% per day. After 5 working days late assessment will not be marked. In-class tasks missed without approval will not be marked. All pieces of written work must be submitted to pass this subject.
Prescribed Texts:	Set readings for this subject will be made available via the LMS.
