Subject Overview:	In this subject, students will continue to develop their linguistic and cultural competence in Spanish. They will also advance their skills in textual analysis, with a special focus on the long tradition of testimonial texts (testimonios), both in recent Spanish and Latin American history. Through the study of first-person narratives, students will learn how to create and use authentic Spanish and Latin American cultural materials. This will allow them to produce and defend their own first-person testimonies in the shape of both formal (class presentation of personal experiences) and informal contexts (personal blogs, etc.). Through these activities students will gain an appreciation of the cultural and historical realities that have shaped the Spanish and Latin American modern and contemporary world. They will develop an understanding of the principles of first person testimonies, and will learn how to present and articulate their own ideas, both in oral and written forms. In addition, students will become confident in the use of vocabulary, sentence and text structures utilised in different contexts (formal and informal), as presented in diaries and journal articles, short and long narratives, and visual texts.
Objectives:	At the end of this subject students will: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> # Be able to identify Spanish linguistic and cultural realities as presented in contemporary and historical testimony, texts # Be able to use primary and secondary sources in sophisticated class presentations in Spanish about multiculturalism. # Be able to use authentic cultural materials and produce their own testimonios, including a meta reflective section on their use of primary and secondary sources # Be able to intellectually reflect upon the reasons of the interaction with the cultures of the Spanish-speaking world by both researching about, and engaging in activities involving direct contact with Spanish native speakers beyond the classroom # Be able to develop, present and defend sophisticated ideas in the format of an essay presentation to other Spanish speakers through blogs and other communicative tools

Assessment:	A testimony project presentation and a class debate (10 minutes) due during the semester [10%] A 800 words final essay with a focus on a specific meta-analytical reflection on the testimony research process due end of the semester [10%] Two class assignments (400 words each) due during the semester [20%] Two 1 hour tests(700 words each) due during the semester [35%] A final exam, 1.5 hours (equivalent to 1000 words) during the examination period [25%] This subject has the following hurdle requirements: Regular participation in tutorials is required with a minimum of 75% attendance. All pieces of written work must be submitted to pass this subject.
