Subject Overview:	This subject focuses on the creative process of shorter literary work, from the first idea through the development, editing and presentation, including the identification of sources, and choice of style and form. Students will be encouraged to attempt a variety of forms including poetry, monologue, fiction and creative non-fiction. They will also be encouraged to read and discuss a wide range of contemporary literature as part of their understanding and articulation of their own and others' creative work.
Learning Outcomes:	On completion of the subject students should have: # demonstrated some understanding of the relationship between content and form in creative work; # drawn on their experience and memory as a source for developing creative works; # drafted and developed their own creative written work; # demonstrated some critical faculties as readers of their own and others' writing; # identified and established personal working practices, rituals and routines; # drawn on their experience and memory as a source for developing creative works.
Assessment:	Written work totalling 4000 words including three major assignments (due in weeks 5 (30 to 40 lines of poetry equivalent to 1000 words), week 9 (1500 words) and during the examination period (1500 words) allocated 30% each, with 10% for participation in tutorials, which will include attendance at lectures. This subject has a minimum hurdle requirement of 80% attendance and regular participation in tutorials. Assessment submitted late without an approved extension will be penalised at 10% per day. In-class tasks missed without approval will not be marked. All pieces of written work must be submitted to pass this subject.
