Subject Overview:	This subject offers students who have completed French 1, or equivalent, an increasing immersion into the study of the French language and of French-speaking cultures throughout the world. Students will develop further autonomy in their study of more sophisticated grammatical structures of the language and in their interpretation of the cultural reference of authentic texts. These documents will be of greater complexity in relation to the previous semester's work and will include written texts, for example poems and proverbs, and audio-visual material such as songs and a feature film. Students will undertake a research project on an aspect of French-speaking cultures, and will produce written work on the basis of a preparatory oral presentation in class. Reading and writing skills will be developed through the interpretation of authentic texts in French with the guided use of dictionaries and other resources and with a specific focus on the production of summaries (résumés) of the texts. Oral communication skills will be developed through more sophisticated listening comprehension and pronunciation exercises as well as the in-class oral presentation and discussion of the texts studied.
Learning Outcomes:	Students who complete this subject should: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> # have developed increasingly sophisticated skills in French, incorporating reading and writing, speaking and listening comprehension # show an increased awareness and understanding of French-speaking cultures throughout the world # have developed their ability to write a summary (résumé) of an authentic text in French # have increased autonomy in their study of French # be prepared for entry to French 3 in the core subject sequence in French Studies at The University of Melbourne
