Subject Overview:	The subject looks at the rules, concepts, principles, institutional architecture and enforcement of something we call international criminal law or international criminal justice, or, sometimes, the law of war crimes. The focus of the subject is the area of international criminal law concerned with traditional 'war crimes' and, in particular, four of the core crimes set out in the Rome Statute (war crimes, torture, genocide and aggression). It adopts a historical, philosophical and practical focus throughout, though the subject is mainly directed at the conceptual problems associated with the prosecution of war criminals and, more broadly, legalised retribution. Attention, in this respect, will be directed towards the moral and jurisprudential dilemmas associated with bureaucratic criminality and individual culpability. Principal topics will include: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li># The nature of law, war and crime and the purpose of war crimes trials</li> <li># Concept of individual criminal responsibility for violations of international law</li> <li># Elaboration of basic crimes</li> <li># Universal jurisdiction</li> <li># International criminal courts</li> <li># International vs national jurisdictions and the concept of universal jurisdiction</li> <li># Different models of international criminal courts and tribunals</li> </ul>

	# The International Criminal Court.
Learning Outcomes:	This subject will focus on individual accountability for human rights abuses, including both the substantive law providing for such responsibility and the range of mechanisms available for holding individuals accountable. A student who has successfully completed this subject should: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li># Locate the law of war crimes in the great moral and political dilemmas of the last half century</li> <li># Understand the concept of individual criminal responsibility for violations of international law</li> <li># Assimilate the core crimes, as well as critical extensions of culpability, such as command responsibility, and key defences, such as duress or superior orders</li> <li># Be aware of the historical development of international criminal law</li> <li># Appreciate the relationship between national and international jurisdiction for the prosecution of international crimes</li> <li># Be conversant with the advantages and disadvantages of prosecutions compared to other methods of individual accountability, including the debate over amnesties and pardons</li> <li># Understand the full range of non-prosecutorial mechanisms for holding individuals accountable, including truth commissions and civil suits</li> <li># Comprehend the basic workings of the United Nation's (UN) ad hoc criminal tribunals and the permanent International Criminal Court.</li> </ul>
Assessment:	Take-home examination (100%) (16 – 19 January 2015)
