Subject Overview:	This subject further develops the understanding of song writing for the commercial music industry. Aspects of song form including the chorus and the hook, lyric writing and industry requirements will be examined. Pop Song Writing is delivered as a lecture and workshop in a large group format and will illuminate the fundamental principles of song writing. It is also a practical class forum for the workshop of new pop songs and provides the opportunity for the individual development and showing of new songs and group discussion of issues related to pop song composition. During the course students will be required to engage in whole group discussion and to present complete and ongoing pop songs.
Learning Outcomes:	On completing this subject students will: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • develop an appreciation and understanding of the nature of commercial music making; • be cognisant of the key elements of pop song writing; • develop an appreciation of the pop song development process in a solo and group environment.
