Subject Overview:	This subject will provide a methodological and theoretical understanding of the UK based Musical Futures pedagogy and its application in the Australian context. Participants will examine and develop their pedagogical content knowledge and skills through the practical exploration of various learning and teaching environments in which listening, performing, improvising, and composing activities are integrated. Students will also consider how this non-formal pedagogical approach reconceptualises the roles of the classroom and instrumental teacher, and its impact on students' acquisition of musical knowledge and skills, engagement and social learning. This subject can be taken as a single subject via the Community Access Program, or for credit towards the Master of Music Studies degree. Further information regarding the Community Access Program and Application forms can be accessed via this website - http://futurestudents.unimelb.edu.au/courses/single_subject_studies (http://futurestudents.unimelb.edu.au/courses/single_subject_studies)
