Subject Overview:	Students continue intensive revision and further development of the major areas of contemporary Italian language and culture. Through the analysis of language structures with a practical focus, students will extend their linguistic capacities in reading, writing, listening, speaking and describing the Italian language. Students also explore aspects of contemporary Italian literature, society and history through a programmatic study of post-war Italy. Students develop a critical capacity enabling them to understand and analyse a variety of text types (film, music, mass media, literature, etc.). Communication skills will also be developed through online and face-to-face collaboration in a range of in- and out-of-class activities.
Learning Outcomes:	Students who complete this subject will: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> # interpret and analyse a variety of texts and genres, both written and spoken, of a moderate level of complexity # continue to consolidate and extend linguistic structures and vocabulary - use appropriate linguistic structures and lexical resources, including specialised terminology relating to specific literary, linguistic and cultural aspects of Italian-speaking communities, to communicate in Italian both in writing and speaking # build on the introduction to certain aspects of the core areas of Italian Studies through specific focus on each through dedicated learning activities # apply research methods appropriately to task # demonstrate an appreciation of the diversity of Italian language and culture # actively compare and contrast linguistic and cultural similarities and differences between Italian language and culture and other languages and cultures
