Subject Overview:	Sport is both an industry of the modern age and a traditional activity that reaches to the core of the social fabric. Law and sport intersect in many and varied ways, some of which challenge established notions of thinking about law. Sport, Commerce and the Law is the flagship subject of the sports law program, surveying many areas of legal controversy in sport, with particular emphasis on the link between the commercialisation of sport and the emergence of sports law. This subject is the best place to start for students embarking on a program of sports law studies and, for the student with wider interests, the ideal subject through which to sample sports law. The lecturer is an established figure in the field and one of a small number of people in the world with the breadth of knowledge necessary to teach this subject.

	This subject considers selected aspects of the relationship between the law and commercial and professional sporting activities. Particular attention is given to legal responses to the commercialisation of sport and how they influence sport. Principal topics include: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li># Athletes' rights in relation to discipline, sex and racial discrimination, eligibility and selection, and drug use</li> <li># Amateurism and professionalism</li> <li># Protection and marketing of the athlete's reputation</li> <li># Professional player contracts, including discipline, entitlement in the event of injury, assignment, inducing breach of contracts and remedies for breach</li> <li># Club and league structures and franchise ownership</li> <li># Advertising and sponsorship arrangements</li> <li># The impact of the common law doctrine of restraint of trade and the restrictive trade practices provisions of the Competition and Consumer Act 2010 (Cth)</li> <li># Taxation of athletes and clubs</li> <li># International sports organisations.</li> </ul>
Learning Outcomes:	A student who has successfully completed this subject will: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li># Have an advanced and integrated understanding of the specific principles of law and regulation as they apply within the context of sport, including recent developments in these fields of law and practice</li> <li># Be able to critically examine, analyse, interpret and assess the effectiveness of these legal principles</li> <li># Be an engaged participant in debate regarding emerging and contemporary issues in the field, such as the emergence of sports law as a system of global law and regulation</li> <li># Have a sophisticated appreciation of the factors and processes driving parliamentary and sporting body revision of the legal and regulatory framework both domestically and internationally</li> <li># Have an advanced understanding of situations in which legal issues may arise in both elite and community based sporting relationships and management practices</li> <li># Have an understanding of sports law issues in an international context</li> <li># Have the cognitive and technical skills to generate critical and creative ideas relating to sports law, and to critically evaluate existing legal and regulatory theories, principles and concepts with creativity and autonomy</li> <li># Have the cognitive and technical skills to independently examine, research and analyse existing and emerging legal issues relating to sport</li> <li># Have the communication skills to clearly articulate and convey complex information regarding sports law issues relevant to specialist and non-specialist audiences</li> <li># Be able to demonstrate autonomy, expert judgment and responsibility as a practitioner and learner in the field of sport law.</li> </ul>
Assessment:	10,000 word research paper (100%) (17 June) on a topic approved by the subject coordinator
