Subject Overview:	The subject will examine the skills required for individual composers to develop their craft in interactive music making. Interactive Composition is delivered in two parts: Tutorial and Workshop. Tutorial is taught primarily by a specialist mentor through a mixture of individual and group tutorials. Workshop is taught as a seminar and provides the opportunity for group discussion of issues related to interactive composition and a forum for the workshop of new works. During the course students will be required to engage in whole group discussion and to present complete and ongoing interactive compositions.
Learning Outcomes:	On completing this subject students will: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> # have developed an appreciation and practical understanding of the nature of interactive composition; # be cognisant of and sympathetic to a broad range of music's and art forms within an interactive composition context; # appreciate solo and group interactive composition and the extra-musical aspects necessary for success in the presentation in a variety of media contexts;

	# be able to connect creative skill development with actual interactive composition performance.
Assessment:	Individual folio examination: completion of an interactive composition portfolio of original material composed during the semester for which the student is being assessed. (80%) Portfolio content: The folio works should have a total duration of 20 minutes and will include examples of composition for different media. (20%) Individual event presentation: presentation of an individual interactive composition live event of 20 minutes duration. The event must contain new work created during the year of assessment. Hurdle requirements: Students must attend 80% of all scheduled classes and attempt all elements of assessment to be eligible for a pass in this subject.
