Subject Overview:	The Applied Syndicate Project is a capstone option in the Melbourne Master of Public Administration. The Melbourne MPA is an interdisciplinary, globally-focused program for managers that work within or with government. This subject enables participants to draw on the expertise developed throughout the MPA and apply it in real time to a contemporary project. The project is team-based to mirror the practical experience of managers and will be developed and overseen by both a professional and academic mentor. The syndicate group will work in consultation with their practice and academic mentors to develop a project brief, undertake analysis, and prepare a professional report to the sponsoring organisation. The syndicate will present their report at the Capstone Presentation Day.

Learning Outcomes:	Students who successfully complete this subject will: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> # Understand the nature of applied research and it's power in addressing practical problems; # Appreciate the complexities of bringing together theory and practice to develop managerial strategies; # Apply their professional skills (working ethically; managing effectively; using evidence) in a team-based environment.
Assessment:	Assessment Task 1: Syndicate group paper of 8,000 words where the team produces an applied research/professional report (70%) due in week 11 of semester; Assessment Task 2: Syndicate group presentation at the Capstone Presentation Day (20%) scheduled in week 11; Assessment Task 3: Reflective practice paper of 1500 words where participants reflect on the team process and individual lessons from the project Individual paper (10%) due in the examination period. Hurdle Requirement: Students are expected to attend all seminars and the presentation day in order to successfully pass this subject. Assessment submitted late without an approved extension will be penalised at 10% per working day. In-class tasks missed without approval will not be marked. All pieces of written work must be submitted to pass this subject.
Prescribed Texts:	All readings will be provided on the LMS
