Subject Overview:	This subject is designed for students of non-Chinese speaking background who have completed Chinese 3 and Chinese 4 (previously offered as Chinese 2A and 2B), or equivalent. Students will build on the knowledge gained through their previous studies and broaden their reading, listening comprehension and speaking skills. Students will develop their ability to communicate in Chinese at a beginning-advanced level and their analytical skills of the Chinese language through engaging with a range of topics concerning contemporary Chinese society and culture. Their linguistic competence will be enhanced through exposure to Chinese materials dealing with a variety of socio-cultural situations, writing and presenting opinion pieces on current issues in Chinese, and participating in group discussions. Study activities will be supported with linguistic and cultural resources, including background information in brief English passages, along with video, audio and additional reading materials introducing the cultural topics.

	By the conclusion of this subject students should have a better understanding of Chinese cultural practices. They will be more competent in communicating in Chinese on a variety of topics in both spoken and written forms.
Learning Outcomes:	On completion of this subject, students will: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • be able to function in Chinese in a number of situations; • be able to make a short presentation in Chinese on a selected number of subjects; • develop some general correspondence skills; • have a vocabulary of approximately 1250 characters; • build on foundational knowledge of structural patterns to manage complex bodies of new information; • be able to recognise the indispensability of accuracy in communication while dealing with increasing quantities of information; • acquire general knowledge of key social and cultural phenomena as the basis for a heightened global awareness.
Assessment:	Weekly in-class written tests 10% (weeks 2-10) A 3 to 5 min short oral class presentation 5% (week 6) A listening and comprehension test 20% (week 12) An oral test 15% (examination period) A 2 hour final examination 50% (examination period) Hurdle requirement: Class attendance is required for this subject; if you do not attend a minimum of 80% of classes without an approved exemption you will not be eligible for a pass in this subject. Note: Assessment submitted late without an approved extension will be penalised at 10% per day. In-class tasks missed without approval will not be marked.
