Course Overview:	The Graduate Certificate in Clinical Teaching (GCertClinTeach) has evolved from the university's successful Graduate Certificate in University Teaching (GCUT). It uses much of the same proven pedagogy while locating learning within the clinical context to ensure that it resonates with busy clinicians. In recognition of workforce demands, participants will be able to choose between monthly contact days based at the Parkville campus four times per semester, or an intensive program with four days in the one week. The GCertClinTeach has four practically-orientated subjects and will be delivered in association with the Centre for the Study of Higher Education, blending learners with the CSHE's GCUT stream when appropriate. The GCertClinTeach will be unique in the international marketplace for its quality, flexibility and immediate utility. Clinicians who gain the University of Melbourne GCertClinTeach will be valued for their commitment to clinical teaching. Those who progress to the Grad Dip will be recognised for their advanced knowledge and skills, and those who undertake the Masters program for their demonstrated excellence in clinical education.
Learning Outcomes:	It is the first in a pathway of award courses being developed by FMDHS (along with the Grad Dip Clin Ed and M Clin Ed). It is primarily intended as a high quality professional development opportunity for those clinicians who teach clinical learners (at all levels) in healthcare settings. Graduates who gain the Graduate Certificate in Clinical Teaching will be: Academically excellent: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • demonstrate an analytical and reflective approach to their clinical teaching and supervision activities and a recognition of their professional responsibilities in this area; • underpin their clinical teaching with the best available research evidence; • contribute to the scholarly development of the field of clinical teaching. Knowledgeable across disciplines: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • contribute to the learning of students at all levels of the educational continuum; • be aware of the unique and common challenges and approaches involved in developing learners of different health disciplines; • be aware of their strengths and weaknesses as a clinical teacher and/or supervisor and be prepared to collaborate accordingly; • collaborate with practitioners from other health disciplines to achieve best outcomes for their learners. Leaders in communities: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • initiate and implement constructive change in the approach to clinical teaching within their healthcare environment; • mentor future generations of clinical learners; • appreciate the importance of exchanging feedback, support and assistance with colleagues; • be well-informed of the health workforce training needs of the local communities within which they practise. Attuned to cultural diversity:

	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • develop a student-centred approach to clinical teaching and learning; • respect knowledge, cultures and values of Indigenous students and patients involved in teaching; • maintain and encourage a sensitive and respectful approach to involving people from different cultures in clinical education; • be aware of the specific cultural characteristics of the communities within which they practise. Active global citizens: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • accept social and civic responsibilities to help develop an appropriate, accessible and sustainable health workforce; • advocate for environmental sustainability; • seek opportunities to contribute to the improvement of health workforce in developing countries.
Course Structure & Available Subjects:	The Graduate Certificate of Clinical Teaching employs a similar structure to the GCUT on which it is based, with 4 subjects of equal weighting (12.5 points each) spread over two semesters. First semester: <ol style="list-style-type: none"> 1. Effective Clinical Teaching 2. Effective Clinical Supervision Second semester: <ol style="list-style-type: none"> 3. Clinical Education in Practice 4. Assessing Clinical Performance
