Subject Overview:	In the field of takeovers, company mergers and other corporate reconstructions, schemes of arrangement are playing an ever increasing role. In the takeover sphere, schemes have often been used in recent times as an alternative to using the takeover provisions in Chapter 6 of the Corporations Act 2001 (Cth). This subject will address what a scheme of arrangement is and the role that schemes play in these fields of commercial activity, particularly in the area of takeovers. The role played by the court and the Australian Securities and Investment Commission (ASIC) at each relevant stage of the scheme process as well as practical considerations and guidance in connection with obtaining court approval to a scheme are among the topics that will be addressed in this subject. The lecturers are both commercial barristers at the Victorian Bar whose areas of practice include schemes of arrangement. Principal topics will include: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> # What a scheme of arrangement is and the role schemes play in the field of takeovers, company mergers and other corporate reconstructions # The statutory framework applicable to schemes of arrangement
